Babies tend to see shapes before colour, so when it comes to decorating the nursery why not skip the paint and cover walls with wallpaper instead? A design incorporating simple shapes with a subtle mix of colour will soon familiarise baby with their special room.

Rock-a-bye, baby

Your baby will spend some time sleeping, so selecting the right cradle or cot is an important choice. Cots need to be safe, sturdy, comfortable and easy for parents to use. Look for the Standards Australia logo to ensure the cot complies with Australian safety requirements.

If you prefer to start off small in your choice of baby's bed, infants especially love the to-and-fro motion of cradles. The Leander cradle takes the rocking concept further. Suspended from the ceiling or a tripod, the cradle sways gently in all directions, creating a rhythm that emulates the comforting swaying movements of Mum while baby was in the womb. A canopy completes the cocoon-like experience. The machine-washable fabric and mattress are made from organic cotton, and the cradle can be detached and used as a mobile bed. Cradle and mattress retail for $329.95, the tripod for $199.95 and the canopy for $79.95, through Danish by Design (03 9589 4299).
