

hbnews

gardening

line dance

For a plant that'll last happily through the hottest summer, you can't beat succulents, especially when they're arranged just right. For maximum style impact we've gone for simple symmetry, lining up a row of terracotta pots filled with a mix of succulents, including echeveria, sedum and sempervivum. A pair of rustic wrought-iron planters – with more succulents pouring over the top – adds height, texture and structure to the arrangement. hb

STYLING, MIA ASKER. PHOTOGRAPHY, MIKE NEWLING. WORDS, JODIE THOMSON

whiteonline.com.au